

The NeX's Day

Seminars on Economics and Complexity

4 NeX's Day Seminar

The NeX's Day Seminars is a monthly meeting aimed at discussing and advancing relevant research themes in Economics and Complexity. It is an opportunity to professors, researchers and graduate students to get in touch with the frontier of the economic science, discuss your research, get feedbacks and expand your academic network. Along 2018-2020 the seminars are being benefited by collaboration with SPRU-Science Policy Research Unit/Sussex and British Academy by Newton Advanced Fellowship RD3 2017 under the grant agreement NAF2R2/100097.

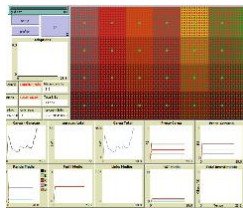

Apr 05th, 2019 - From 09:00 to 12:00

Federal University of Paraná - Department of Economics

Campus Botanic Garden

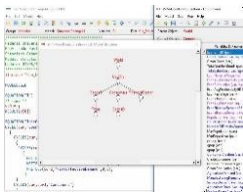

NeX Room # 27, ground floor

Solar Energy Diffusion in Urban Areas: A complex agent-based model

Prof. João Basilio Pereira

Coordinator of NeX-Nucleo of Economics and Complexity
Federal University of Paraná

An ABM North-South with Endogenous Demand and Sgstructural Change

Rubens Ibraim Ribeiro and Hermes Higachi

Reaserchers at NeX-Nucleo of Economics and Complexity
State University of Ponta Grossa, Paraná (UEPG)

BUSINESS
SCHOOL

SCIENCE POLICY
RESEARCH UNIT